BOARD & COMMITTEE REPORTS/ COUNCILMEMBER COMMENTS

Councilmember Scott reported:

- The Finance and Economic Development committee met this week to discuss a draft of the ordinance for development regulations in the downtown Marina District
- The Arts Commission met to discuss summer concerts, the native American flute fest in August, the completion of Beach Park this year so it can be used as a venue for musical programs
- The Seattle Southside group, which markets Des Moines and several other south county cities, had met. Between Sept 2009 and September 2010, their revamped and improved efforts increased hotel reservations by 114% and their website is now in six different languages. Discussed also was how to carry on without state funding. She mentioned increased use of Twitter and Facebook, which she said is indicative of how we reach people now.

Mayor Pro-Tem Kaplan reported:

- He attended the well attended Seattle Southside meeting and feels they have ramped up and improved the quality of their work. Because of scarce resources, tourism is working more in coordination with each other, requiring commitment in picking up the slack in how visitors to the area are approached. A large part of what they do is to look at advertising in a much different way than in past generations, i.e., Twitter and Facebook

- Ricky Marohl was named outstanding Farmers Market Manager of the Year for the State of Washington and it was a well deserved honor which also speaks well of our market
- CM Piasecki spoke in Olympia on a bill that addressed changes to the interest arbitration statutes, an item on the City's list of intergovernmental policies
- Commented on the Rosie incident: He believes all the information needs to be reviewed before he offers an opinion

Councilmember Musser reported:

- The Highline Healthy Community Coalition meeting was held February 1 and welcomed a guest speaker from King County. King County will have their message ready in May but South King County participants must have theirs complete by March.
- She had the honor on February 8 to speak at the North Hill Community Center. She shared information with them from the Finance and Economic Development Committee meeting. They also discussed the potential impact of viaduct construction

Councilmember Pina reported:

- The Suburban Cities Association Public Issues Committee met and discussed its action items: the veterans and human services levy, binding interest arbitration legislation, public records reform legislation and leveling of pension contributions were topics of discussion. Binding interest arbitration had support but not enough for an emergency declaration.. Public record legislation was supported to move forward to the SCA Board because of the volume of public records requests and the cost of staff time to complete them.

Councilmember Sherman had no report.

Councilmember Thomasson reported:

- The Environment Committee met and provided comments about the Water Dist 54 Comprehensive Plan which the District will adopt in a few weeks. Council will review it in March.
- A meeting of the Transportation Benefit District (TBD) which is comprised of the City Council, but with different titles, was held. The agenda included a report of 2010 finances and approval of the 2011 budget in the amount of $380,000. The money collected from a $20 tax on each license tab sold is used by the City for arterial street maintenance.

PRESIDING OFFICER'S REPORT

Mayor Sheckler Commended Ricky Marohl for becoming the Farmer's Market Manager of the Year. This is amazing because the Farmer's Market has been in existence for only 5 years.

ADMINISTRATION REPORTS

Sue Anderson, Policy Analyst for the HEAL (Healthy Eating Active Living) grant, spoke about the initiative. She has a technical advisory committee including city staff. Goals and outcomes were listed in a handout, which she distributed. Fresh raspberries were distributed to City Councilmembers.

City Manager Piasecki reported on LEOFF1 Board which deals with medical issues of LEOFF 1 retirees. There are two vacancies for any two councilmembers. Mayor Pro Tem Kaplan and Councilmember Musser volunteered to serve on the Board.

Item #3 on the Consent agenda concerns the Gateway Project design, which is now complete, and he urged a positive vote to pass this resolution.

Mr. Don Harper passed away last week. He was very active in City activities over the years and he will be missed.

At the SCORE Board meeting last week and Mayor Sheckler was re-elected as Vice-Chair.

Interim Police Chief John O'Leary spoke about the 3rd Party Review from Pierce County. On December 29, 2010 the entire Rosie file was sent Pierce County Animal Control for a third party review. Tim Anderson, Manager of Pierce County Animal Control and President of Washington Animal Control Association (WACA) prepared a candid and objective review as requested by the City that would indicate changes that needed to be made to existing policy.

On February 4 the report recommended:

- Promoting pet licensing
- Training in animal handling and canine behavior in order that officers can understand dog behavior
- Availability of Animal control when appropriate, request Animal Control from Neighboring jurisdictions
- Capture poles should be used rather than tasers for routine capture. If tasers were used, an officer should be available to collar the incapacitated dog
- Recommended against using tranquilizing drugs
- No changes were recommended in the City's Animal Control Policies

What Des Moines is doing:

More training is being provided to officers in canine behavior. Larger and longer poles have been purchased by the City. A compressed air netting gun was acquired but proved to be ineffective. Des Moines reached out to surrounding cities for assistance with priority animal control calls. Jan Magnuson and Kory Batterman will attend the animal control workshop at the Police Academy Training Center in Normandy Park in March providing backup to Jan Magnuson as the City's Animal Control Officer. The entire police policy and procedure manual would be posted on the City's webpage.

Many pets and owners have been reunited in the past successfully employing processes that have proved successful.
